Second Pond is a clear, spring-fed pond located in the well-known Lucerne-in-Maine hills a short distance from Bangor. The pond drains into Phillips Lake and serves as a water supply. You can drive to the pond, but there is not a good boat landing.

Second Pond has fine water for brook trout. The pond is cold (63° F.) at the 14-foot level, and oxygen remains good down to 30 feet. Neither pickerel nor suckers seem abundant.

We recommend management for brook trout. Periodic stocking with large trout will probably be required to provide fishing.
