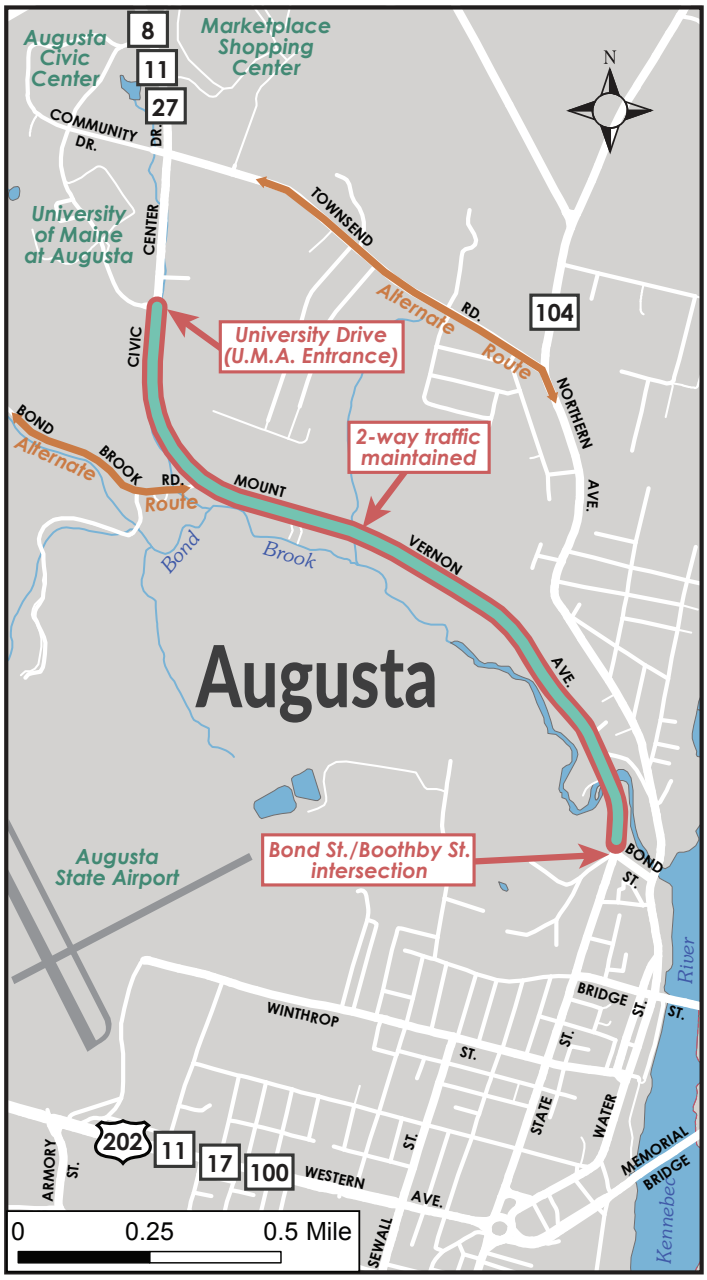
Work on Mount Vernon Avenue in Augusta Restarts Monday April 4th



Area businesses will remain open and accessible

Mount Vernon Avenue is being completely reconstructed as part of a $ 2.9 million project that restarts April 4th. The work requires one-way alternating traffic with flaggers. At first, work will take place at the Bond Street end of the project to complete water, sewage, and drainage improvements as well as build retaining walls. However, work will take place along the length of Mount Vernon Avenue northerly to University Drive. All work will take place during daytime hours.

It is anticipated that the project will be completed by the end of June. In addition to road reconstruction, the project includes water and sewer improvements, as well as new drainage, new sidewalks and new retaining walls
