Topic: Vehicle-Deer Collisions

Maine is known for its beautiful wildlife. But hitting a large animal with your vehicle can be devastating—even deadly. More than 3,000 deer-vehicle crashes are reported in Maine every year. The MaineDOT offers these vehicle-deer related facts:

- An average of 10 vehicle-deer crashes are reported every day.
- It doesn't matter where you live in Maine, vehicle-deer crashes happen even in the most populated areas.
- A deer's jumping ability can easily cause it to strike your windshield.
- Deer-vehicle crashes are most common from October to December.

Remember to also be watching for Moose. Moose are still very active this time of year. They are far larger than deer – weighing up to 1,500 pounds and standing much taller than deer and therefore very dangerous to motorists.

More than 9,000 deer-vehicle crashes occurred and resulted in two fatalities and 350 injuries over the past three years.

Flash Facts: Since vehicle-deer related car crashes happen in every area in Maine, be watching for deer activity every time you drive. The MaineDOT offers these tips on how to better your chances of avoiding a vehicle-deer crash:

- When there aren't other vehicles ahead of you or vehicles coming toward you, use your high beams. This will better illuminate the road and enable you to see any reflection from the deer's eyes, giving you a chance of seeing them sooner.
- Travel at a safe speed and be alert so that you can stop quickly.
- Reduce your speed in rain and fog. Poor weather conditions reduce your ability to see a deer on or near the road.
- Constantly scan the roadside.

More than 75% of deer-vehicle crashes happen between dawn and dusk, and 60% occur when it's dark.

During the last three years, every county in Maine has had over 200 deer-vehicle crashes. Cumberland County had more than 1,400 crashes, Penobscot County had over 1200, and Kennebec County had more than 1,000 crashes during those three years. There's no doubt that deer-vehicle collisions are a safety problem. The MaineDOT offers this advice:

- Be sure to scan both the roadway and off-road areas 20-30 seconds ahead.
- Slow down and allow enough time to safely brake.
- If you see one deer cross the road, watch for others to follow.
- Always buckle up.
