Syracuse University recently concluded its investigation of an incident that involved unauthorized access to one employee's email account. Upon first suspecting unauthorized access to the employee's email account, Syracuse University immediately secured the account and launched an investigation with assistance from a computer forensics firm. In connection with that investigation, Syracuse University learned that an unauthorized party gained access to the employee's email account between September 24, 2020 and September 28, 2020. The investigation was unable to determine whether the unauthorized party actually viewed any emails or attachments in the account. In an abundance of caution, Syracuse University reviewed the emails and attachments contained in the email account to identify individuals whose information may have been accessible to the unauthorized party. On January 4, 2021, Syracuse University determined that an email and/or attachment contained the names and Social Security numbers of 62 Maine residents.

In accordance with Me. Rev. Stat. Tit. 10, § 1348, Syracuse University is providing written notice via United States Postal Service mail to the Maine residents whose personal information was potentially accessed by an unauthorized party.¹ To help monitor for any potential misuse of personal information, Syracuse University is offering a complimentary one-year membership in credit monitoring and identity theft protection services through Experian to the Maine residents whose Social Security number was potentially accessed by the unauthorized party. The notice letter also provides a telephone number that notice recipients can call with any questions they may have.

To help prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future, Syracuse University has implemented additional data security measures to enhance the security of the network, including adding additional resources for cybersecurity training and providing additional training on cybersecurity and phishing for all employees with access to personal information.

¹ This notice does not waive Syracuse University's objection that Maine lacks personal jurisdiction over it regarding any claims related to this incident.

Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>:

Syracuse University understands the importance of protecting the privacy and security of the information we maintain. We are writing to inform you about a data security incident that may have involved some of your information. This notice explains the incident, measures we have taken, and some steps you may consider taking in response.

The University recently concluded its investigation of an incident that involved unauthorized access to one employee's email account. Upon first suspecting unauthorized access to the employee's email account, we immediately secured the account and a cybersecurity firm was engaged to assist.

In connection with that investigation, we learned that an unauthorized party gained access to the employee's email account between September 24, 2020 and September 28, 2020. Our investigation was unable to determine whether the unauthorized party actually viewed any emails or attachments in the account. In an abundance of caution, we reviewed the emails and attachments contained in the email account to identify individuals whose information may have been accessible to the unauthorized party. On January 4, 2021, we determined that an email and/or attachment contained your <<b2b_text_1(ImpactedData)>>.

To date, we are unaware of any misuse of the information maintained in the employee's email account, nor do we have any evidence that any emails or attachments containing your information were actually viewed. However, we want to inform you of this event, assure you that we take this very seriously, and provide you with ways to protect your information. As a precaution, we have secured the services of Experian® to offer you a complimentary one-year membership in Experian's IdentityWorksSM. This product helps detect possible misuse of your information and provides you with identity protection support focused on immediate identification and resolution of identity theft. IdentityWorks is completely free and enrolling in this program will not hurt your credit score. For more information on IdentityWorks, including instructions on how to activate your complimentary one-year membership, as well as some additional steps you can take to protect your information, please see the pages that follow this letter. We also encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing your financial account statements for any unauthorized activity. If you see charges or activity you did not authorize, please contact your financial institution immediately.

We regret any concern this incident may cause you. To help prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future, we have implemented additional data security measures to enhance the security of our network, including hiring additional resources for cybersecurity training and providing additional training on cybersecurity and phishing for all of our employees with access to personal information. If you have any questions, please call 1-XXX-XXX-XXXX Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 5:30 pm Central Time.

Sincerely,

Steven J. Bennett
Senior Vice President for International Programs and Academic Operations
Chief of Staff, Academic Affairs

ADDITIONAL STEPS YOU CAN TAKE

We remind you it is always advisable to be vigilant for incidents of fraud or identity theft by reviewing your account statements and free credit reports for any unauthorized activity. You may obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, once every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting companies. To order your annual free credit report, please visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll free at 1-877-322-8228. Contact information for the three nationwide credit reporting companies is as follows:

- Equifax, PO Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374, www.equifax.com, 1-800-685-1111
- Experian, PO Box 2002, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com, 1-888-397-3742
- TransUnion, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com, 1-800-916-8800

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

- Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), www.ftc.gov/idtheft

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.

Additional Information for Residents of the Following States

North Carolina: You may contact and obtain information from your state attorney general at: North Carolina Attorney General's Office, 9001 Mail Service Centre, Raleigh, NC 27699, 1-919-716-6000 / 1-877-566-7226, www.ncdoj.gov

Rhode Island: This incident involves 92 individuals in Rhode Island. Under Rhode Island law, you have the right to file and obtain a copy of a police report. You also have the right to request a security freeze, as described above. You may contact and obtain information from your state attorney general at: Rhode Island Attorney General's Office, 150 South Main Street, Providence, RI 02903, 1-401-274-4400, www.riag.ri.gov

West Virginia: You have the right to ask that nationwide consumer reporting agencies place "fraud alerts" in your file to let potential creditors and others know that you may be a victim of identity theft, as described above. You also have a right to place a security freeze on your credit report, as described above.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act: The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Your major rights under the FCRA are summarized below. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you.
- You have the right to know what is in your file.
- You have the right to ask for a credit score.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information.
- Access to your file is limited.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers.
- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report.
- You have a right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization.
- You may seek damages from violators.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights.
