Nature of the Data Event

On or about May 3, 2021, GovMint.com discovered an unusual code on a platform that was taking customer data off the order entry page when customers were placing web orders on the website. GovMint.com immediately launched an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event, and to identify any possible misuse, access or theft of data. Through our investigation, we determined that the unknown actor gained unauthorized access to portions of www.govmint.com between May 21, 2020 and May 3, 2021. The investigation determined that certain credit cards entered into this website may have been viewed or exfiltrated by the unknown actor. AMS then worked to perform a comprehensive review of all information potentially impacted to determine what personal information was contained in the systems and to whom the information related. Upon completion of their review, AMS then conducted a manual review of their records to determine the identities and contact information for potentially impacted individuals. On May 26, 2021, AMS Holdings confirmed accurate and complete address information for affected individuals to provide notifications.

The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access includes individuals name, address, and credit card information.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about June 23, 2021 AMS began providing written notice of this incident to affected individuals, which includes two hundred ninety-six (296) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, AMS moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of AMS systems, and notify potentially affected individuals. AMS is also working to implement additional safeguards. Further, AMS is providing access to credit monitoring services for 12 months, through Epiq, to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, AMS is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud. AMS is also providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one’s credit file, information on protecting against tax fraud, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, military identification, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
