This notice will be supplemented with any new significant facts learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, Enstar (US) Inc. (“Enstar”) does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maine law, the applicability of the Maine data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On May 31, 2023, Progress Software Corp. publicly disclosed a zero-day vulnerability that impacted the MOVEit Transfer tool. As a user of that tool, Enstar moved quickly to apply all software updates provided by the vendor to address vulnerabilities associated with the application and undertook recommended mitigation steps. Enstar promptly launched an investigation, with the assistance of third-party cyber forensic specialists, to determine the nature and scope of the potential impact of the vulnerabilities’ presence on our MOVEit Transfer server and on the data it stored. Enstar’s investigation determined that an unauthorized actor (subsequently identified as the criminal group known as ‘CLOP’) exploited this zero-day vulnerability, accessed the MOVEit Transfer server between May 29, 2023, and May 31, 2023, and exfiltrated data over that time. Enstar subsequently undertook a time-consuming and comprehensive review of the data stored on the server at the time of this incident to understand the contents of that data and to whom that data relates. On October 21, 2023, Enstar completed this review and determined the identity of individuals whose personal information was present on the impacted server at the time of the event.

The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access for Maine residents includes name, Social Security number, and driver’s license number.

Notice to Maine Residents

On November 20, 2023, Enstar began providing written notice of this incident to sixty-nine (69) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, Enstar moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of Enstar’s systems, and identify potentially affected individuals. Further, Enstar notified the FBI regarding the event. Enstar is also working to implement additional safeguards and review policies and procedures relating to data privacy and security. Enstar is providing access to credit monitoring services for twenty-four (24) months, through Experian to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, Enstar is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, including advising individuals to report any suspected incidents of identity theft or fraud to their credit card company and/or bank. Enstar is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one’s credit file, information on protecting against tax fraud, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

Enstar is providing written notice of this incident to relevant state regulators, as necessary, and to the three major credit reporting agencies, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer's name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
