NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

Dear <<Name 1>>:

I am writing to inform you of a cyber incident experienced by Felician University. Felician has conducted a thorough investigation of this incident and hired third-party specialists in data forensics. Following a rigorous review, we want to alert you that your personal information was potentially exposed. Below is information about this incident, steps you can take to help protect your personal information, and complimentary identity monitoring services that we are offering you through Equifax.

Our relationship with you is important to us, and we know you trust us with your personal information. We regret that this incident occurred.

What Happened:

On November 18, 2020, Felician discovered that it had fallen victim to a potential cyber incident. We took immediate action to secure Felician systems and further investigate the cause and scope. A thorough investigation revealed that certain Felician files were accessed or acquired between November 14, 2020 and November 17, 2020. We worked with outside data security experts to identify the specific files affected, the type of information contained in the files and to whom the information related. On April 5, 2021, after thorough investigation, we learned that the unauthorized access may have allowed access to your personal information and worked diligently to obtain sufficient contact information in order to provide you with this notification.

What Information Was Involved:

Based on the thorough investigation performed by Felician and its data review team, the information contained in the affected files includes your name in combination with: <<Data Elements>>.

What We Are Doing:

Upon discovery, we immediately secured Felician systems and implemented additional technical safeguards. Out of an abundance of caution, we have arranged for you to activate, at no cost to you, an online credit monitoring service for <<CM Length>> months provided by Equifax. Due to privacy laws, we cannot activate these services for you directly. Additional information regarding how to activate the complimentary credit monitoring service is enclosed. We have also provided additional information about steps you can take to protect yourself against fraud and identity theft.

What You Can Do:

We recommend that you remain vigilant in regularly reviewing and monitoring all of your account statements and credit history to guard against any unauthorized transactions or activity. If you discover any suspicious or unusual activity on your accounts, please promptly contact your financial institution or company. Additionally, you can enroll to receive the complimentary identity monitoring service we are making available to you. You can also review the enclosed materials regarding steps you can take to further protect your information.

For More Information:

Should you have additional questions or concerns regarding this matter, please do not hesitate to contact us at 866-977-0820, Monday through Friday, from 9 am to 9 pm Eastern Time.

We have no relationship more important or more meaningful than the one we share with you. I want to personally express my deepest regret for any worry or inconvenience this incident may cause you.

ADDITIONAL ACTIONS TO HELP PROTECT YOUR INFORMATION

Monitor Your Accounts

We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your credit reports/account statements for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Under U.S. law, you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, TransUnion, Experian, and Equifax. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228. Once you receive your credit report, review it for discrepancies and identify any accounts you did not open or inquiries from creditors that you did not authorize. If you have questions or notice incorrect information, contact the credit reporting bureau.

You have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, you have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without your express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a credit freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Address for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (e.g., state driver’s license or identification card); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft, if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
