We are writing on behalf of our client, Priority One Financial Services, Inc. (“Priority One”) to notify your office of a cybersecurity incident. Priority One is located at 742 2nd Ave S St. Petersburg, FL 33701.

Priority One recently completed an investigation that involved unauthorized access to an employee’s email account. Upon discovering the incident, Priority One immediately took steps to secure its email environment. A cybersecurity firm was engaged to assist with the investigation and determined that an unauthorized party was able to access the employee’s email account between May 3, 2021 and May 17, 2021.

The investigation was not able to determine which emails or attachments, if any, were viewed by the unauthorized party. Therefore, Priority One conducted a thorough review of the contents of the email account to identify the specific individuals whose information was contained within the emails and attachments. It was determined, on July 29, 2021, that the names, Social Security numbers, driver’s license numbers, and financial account numbers of Priority One’s customers, former customers and applicants may have been accessed.

On August 27, 2021, Priority One mailed notification letters to the individuals whose information was contained in the email account, including 181 Maine residents.¹ A copy of the notification letter is enclosed. Priority One is offering a complimentary one-year membership in credit monitoring and identity theft protection services through Experian to the notified individuals with Social Security number and/or driver’s license number involved. Priority One also established a dedicated call center for individuals to call with questions about the incident or enrolling in the credit monitoring services.

To reduce the risk of a similar incident occurring in the future, Priority One implemented additional measures to further enhance the security of its network and existing security protocols.

We recently completed an investigation that involved unauthorized access to an employee's email account. Upon discovering the incident, we immediately took steps to secure our email environment. Therefore, we conducted a thorough review of the contents of the email account to determine the specific individuals whose information was contained within the emails and attachments. On July 29, 2021, we learned that the information that may have been accessed included your name, Social Security number and driver's license number.

You may obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, once every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting companies. If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

- Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), www.ftc.gov/idtheft

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
