Nature of the Data Event

FML is a Certified Public Accounting firm that provides tax and audit services to individuals and business entities. FML collects personal information in relation to the services it provides. The data that is the subject of this notification is information that FML obtained from or on behalf of its business entity customers (“Data Owners”) in relation to individuals associated with or employed by those customers, from individuals for whom FML provides individual tax services and from certain employees.

On September 14, 2021, FML identified unusual system activity on its network. FML promptly took steps to respond and to commence an investigation into the activity. Through the initial investigation, FML determined that it was the target of a cyber-attack that impacted its network. FML took steps to secure its systems and undertook a comprehensive investigation to confirm the full nature and scope of the event. On or about October 13, 2021, the investigation determined that certain folders on FML’s network were potentially copied from its systems as part of the cyberattack between September 9 and September 14, 2021. While the investigation could not confirm exactly which documents were copied, in an abundance of caution, FML undertook a comprehensive review of the potentially impacted folders in order to identify the information that was present and to whom it related. Based on these efforts, FML provided notice to relevant Data Owners whose information has been identified through the review. FML is now providing notice to individuals associated with certain data owners, and providing notice to your office, on behalf of those data owners who have directed and authorized FML to do so, as well as providing notice on its own behalf. The information related to Maine residents that could have been affected by this incident includes names, Social Security number, and financial account information.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about February 9, 2022, FML provided written notice of this incident on behalf of relevant Data Owner(s), specifically The Maine Water Company, to potentially affected individuals, which included an additional one (1) Maine resident. Written notice was provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

FML takes information security very seriously and it has security measures in place to protect information in its care. In response to this incident, FML promptly began taking steps to secure its systems and commenced a comprehensive investigation. FML is also reviewing and enhancing existing policies and procedures and implementing additional safeguards to further secure the information in its systems in the future. FML reported this incident to federal law enforcement and is also notifying relevant regulatory authorities. FML is providing potentially impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, including providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one’s credit file, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud. FML is also providing access to credit monitoring services to individuals whose Social Security number was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
