Notice of Data Security Incident

Dear <<MemberFirstName>> <<MemberLastName>>,

We are writing to tell you about a data security incident that may have exposed some of your personal identifiable information (“PII”) used in connection with Savory Spice’s retail sales website. We take the protection and proper use of your information seriously. For this reason, we are contacting you directly to explain the circumstances of the incident.

On or about October 8, 2020, we learned that an unauthorized third-party had attacked Savory Spice’s computer network. In response, Savory Spice immediately initiated an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the incident. Upon further investigation, we determined what information may have been accessed and which customers may have been affected. On or about July 14, 2021, we concluded our investigation and determined that between April 5, 2018 and March 27, 2021 unauthorized parties may have gained access to customer purchase information.

The personal information acquired may have included your first and last name, credit and/or debit card number, expiration date, and security code.

Savory Spice deeply regrets that this incident occurred. After learning of the data security incident, Savory Spice engaged a third-party forensics and information technology service provider to investigate the incident. Following the incident, we promptly implemented new security measures consistent with the third-party forensics service provider’s recommendations to further enhance payment security on our website.

We encourage you to remain vigilant and regularly review your account statements and credit report for any incidents of fraud, identity theft, or unauthorized activity. Please review the enclosed “Additional Resources” section included with this letter. This section describes additional steps you can take to help protect yourself, including recommendations by the Federal Trade Commission regarding identity theft protection and details on how to place a fraud alert or a security freeze on your credit file.

If you have questions, please call 1-855-654-0862, Monday through Friday between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m., Eastern Time.

Sincerely,

Savory Spice

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report free of charge if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for at least one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft and you have the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by contacting any of the three national credit reporting agencies.

Security Freeze: You can place a security freeze, also known as a credit freeze, on your credit report free of charge. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may use an online process, an automated telephone line, or submit a written request to any of the three credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that, if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past 5 years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, and display your name, current mailing address, and the date of issue.
