By providing this notice, Koons does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maine law, the applicability of the Maine data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

Koons discovered unusual activity on certain computer systems beginning on June 5, 2021. Koons promptly took steps to secure the network and, with the assistance of computer forensic specialists, conducted an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event. The investigation confirmed that an unauthorized actor gained access to a portion of the network and encrypted network files. Given that network locations were accessed without authorization, Koons undertook a lengthy and time-intensive thorough review of the potentially impacted information in order to identify the information that was potentially impacted and to whom it related. That review was completed on or around December 21, 2021, at which time Koons confirmed the individuals whose information was present, and worked to reconcile the results of the review with their internal records in furtherance of identifying the individuals to whom the data related and the appropriate contact information for those individuals in order to provide notification to potentially impacted individuals as quickly as possible.

The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access varies by individual, but may include name, address, Social Security number, driver's license number, and financial account information.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about January 14, 2022, Koons began providing written notice of this incident to all potentially affected individuals, which includes forty-nine (49) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, Koons moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of Koons systems, and notify potentially affected individuals. Koons is providing access to credit monitoring services for one (1) year, through Equifax, to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, Koons is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud. Koons is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one's credit file, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud, should they feel it necessary to do so. Koons also notified federal law enforcement, and is notifying other relevant regulators, as required.

This notice provides you with information about the incident, our response, and additional steps you may take to protect your information, should you determine it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened? Jim Koons Automotive Company (“Koons”) discovered unusual activity on certain computer systems beginning on June 5, 2021. We promptly took steps to secure the network and, with the assistance of computer forensic specialists, conducted an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event. The investigation confirmed that an unauthorized actor gained access to a portion of the network and encrypted network files. Given that network locations were accessed without authorization, we undertook a lengthy, time-intensive, and thorough review of the potentially impacted information in order to identify the information that was potentially impacted and to whom it related. We completed this review on or around December 21, 2021, at which time we confirmed the individuals whose information was present. We then worked to reconcile the results of the review with our internal records in furtherance of identifying the individuals to whom the data related and the appropriate contact information for those individuals in order to provide notification to potentially impacted individuals as quickly as possible. Although we have no evidence of actual or attempted misuse of your information, in an abundance of caution, we are notifying you about the event so that you may take steps to protect your information.

What Information Was Involved? The involved Koons systems contained your name and <<Breached Elements>>. As stated above, Koons is currently unaware of any actual or even attempted misuse of information.

What We Are Doing. We take this incident very seriously. Information privacy and security are among our highest priorities, and we have strict security measures in place to protect information in our care. Upon discovering this incident, we quickly took steps to investigate and respond, including reviewing and enhancing our existing policies and procedures to reduce the likelihood of a similar future event. Koons reported this incident to federal law enforcement and is notifying potentially affected individuals and relevant regulators as required. Moreover, as an added precaution, Koons is offering <<credit monitoring length>> of complimentary access to credit monitoring and identity restoration services to potentially impacted individuals out of an abundance of caution because your information was determined to be present in the systems that may have been accessed during the incident.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
