The investigation into this matter is ongoing, and this notice will be supplemented with any new significant facts learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, Paddock Publications, Inc. (“Paddock”) does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maine law, the applicability of the Maine data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On July 21, 2020, Paddock became aware of suspicious activity within its computer network. Paddock immediately began an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the activity. The investigation determined that certain files within the Paddock environment were encrypted and inaccessible. As part of its investigation, Paddock worked with third party forensic specialists. Through this investigation, the forensic investigators determined that certain files were accessible to unknown actors and may have been removed from the Paddock environment prior to the encryption of its systems. These files included individuals’ full name, and Social Security number.

The forensic investigator then undertook a time-consuming review of all the files stored on the impacted portion of the network to determine whether they contained any sensitive information. On or around October 27, 2020 the investigation determined that the files at issue may have contained personal information. However, this list did not have address information for all impacted individuals, including. Thereafter, Paddock and a third-party vendor conducted a review of internal and external resources to locate the missing addresses so these individuals could be notified. This additional review was completed on December 18, 2020.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about January 5, 2021, Paddock provided written notice of this incident to potentially affected individuals, which includes approximately three (3) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, Paddock moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of Paddock’s systems, and notify potentially affected individuals. Paddock is also working to implement additional safeguards and training to its employees. Paddock is providing access to credit monitoring services for one (1) year, through Experian’s IdentityWorks service, to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, Paddock is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, including providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one's credit file, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud. Paddock will also be reporting this incident to other appropriate state regulators.

RE: Notice of Data Breach

Dear Sample A Sample:

Paddock Publications, Inc. (“Paddock”) is writing to notify you of a recent incident that may have impacted the security of your personal information. We want to provide you with information about the incident, our response, and steps you may take to better protect your personal information, should you feel it necessary to do so.

What Happened? On July 21, 2020, Paddock became aware of suspicious activity within its computer network. Paddock immediately began an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the activity. Our investigation determined that certain files within our environment were encrypted and inaccessible. As part of our investigation, we worked with third party forensic specialists. Through this investigation, the forensic investigators determined that certain files were accessible to unknown actors and may have been removed from our environment prior to the encryption of our systems. The forensic investigator then undertook a time-consuming review of all the files stored on the impacted portion of the network to determine whether they contained any sensitive information. On or around October 27, 2020 the investigation determined that the files at issue may have contained personal information related to you.

What Information was Involved? The investigation confirmed that the following information related to you was stored within one of the impacted files: your name, [Extra1 - data elements].

What We Are Doing. The confidentiality, privacy, and security of personal information within our custody is among Paddock’s highest priorities. Upon learning of the event, we launched an investigation with the assistance of forensic specialists to determine what systems and information may be impacted by this event. We also took steps to further secure our network and we are working to rebuild our network from the ground up to better protect against similar incidents in the future.

What You Can Do. Please review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information, which contains information on what you can do to better protect against possible misuse of your information.

Monitor Your Accounts

In addition to enrolling in the complimentary services detailed above, we encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud, to review your account statements and explanation of benefits, and to monitor your credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Under U.S. law you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also contact the three major credit bureaus directly to request a free copy of your credit report.

You have the right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a security freeze on your credit report. Should you wish to place a security freeze, please contact the major consumer reporting agencies listed below:

In order to request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Your full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. If you have moved in the past five (5) years, provide the addresses where you have lived over the prior five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, military identification, etc.);
7. If you are a victim of identity theft, include a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on your file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the agencies listed below:
