RIDER A SCOPE OF WORK

Contracted Service: Emergency Bio-Hazard Cleaning Service

Service Description

The definition of bio-hazard clean-up for the purpose of this Contract is: The cleanup of any area that has been contaminated by human, animal or plant pathogens, or any biologically contaminated substance that is dangerous to people or the environment. These contaminants include but are not limited to: infectious diseases, COVID-19 or similar viruses, human or animal wastes, medical wastes or bloodborne pathogens, hazardous material remediation, emergency cleaning remediation, mold remediation, air duct cleaning, special carpet/tile cleaning and fire/smoke damage cleanup.

Pre-contamination Planning

The Provider must perform upon request bio-hazard pre-contamination site evaluations and create detailed clean-up plans for the facility. The plan must minimally include: how long the process will take, how many people will be on site performing the service, what cleaners / chemicals and supplies will be used, what processes will be implemented to protect electronics, office spaces, facility structure, employee's professional and personal property and confidential information including documents, visual and audio information which cannot be secured. The plan must also include a facility reentry timeframe / plan and an estimated cost for the clean-up.

Pre-contamination Planning will take place onsite for each loss. As each loss is site, hazard, and contamination specific, onsite planning is critical. Planning will involve the following steps: 1. Ensure health and safety of technicians and occupants, 2. Inspect and evaluate, 3. Isolate and contain affected areas, 4. Remove uncontaminated contents, if applicable, 5. Contain and dispose of unrestorable contents, if applicable, 6. Contain and remove restorable contents for off site processing, if applicable, 7. Clean, sanitize, and remove restorable contents, if applicable, 8. Demo, contain and dispose of unrestorable structural materials, if applicable, 9. Clean, sanitize and, if possible, seal restorable structural materials, if applicable, 10. Evaluate and confirm cleanliness, 11. Remove containment, if applicable.

The Provider must demonstrate its ability to keep current on CDC guidance that changes frequently particularly under pandemic conditions.

The Provider must provide a detailed plan of their disposal processes for each clean-up upon request. A list of all State of Maine or State employee owned material must be presented to the facility manager in charge before it is removed from the facility. After the clean-up has been performed, documentation that the contaminated material has been properly disposed of must be provided to the State of Maine.

Provider must maintain a contract established with a medical waste disposal company. The material will be stored under lock and key at the Provider's facility and they will contact the disposal company to arrange and schedule for pickup. All waste will be disposed of in trash bag, which is placed in an appropriately labeled biohazard trash bag, and placed in an appropriately labeled and sealed biohazard transportation box.
