PART III: SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

1. Provide a more detailed description and explain the need for the goods, services or grant to supplement the response in Part I.

MDACF has been awarded a grant from FDA to implement the Produce Safety Rule (PSR) of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA). Successful implementation of FSMA's new produce safety standards is especially dependent on partnership between FDA and the states, both to deliver education and technical assistance as well as provide on-going compliance support and oversight.

FDA is committed to developing training and technical assistance. Food industry training is an essential component of successful implementation of FSMA. The FDA has been working with the US Dept of Agriculture (USDA), state agriculture departments, the Produce Safety Alliance and the Sprouts Safety Alliance, as well as others, to make sure there are numerous resources available for training, education and technical assistance to aid farmers with implementation of the Produce Safety Rule. The agency is planning to use a number of approaches, including guidance documents to give farmers the tools they need to comply with the new regulations. The agency released a training strategy to support compliance with the FSMA rules. On-Farm Readiness Reviews are designed to help produce growers prepare for on farm inspections conducted under the FSMA PSR. OFRR reviewers are needed to conduct the on-farm assessments.

2. Provide a brief justification for the selected vendor to supplement the response in Part II. Reference the RFP number, if applicable.

The unique nature of this training and the farmers it needs to reach necessitates DACF utilizing University of Maine's Cooperative Extension. The Extension works closely with agricultural organizations and regulatory agencies to assist farmers. This will enable them to successfully reach the intended agricultural community who will be the most affected by FSMA. Only those who have attended the necessary trainings can perform the required services of this contract. UMCE staff have successfully attended the necessary trainings which makes them uniquely qualified to perform these services.

3. Explain how the negotiated costs or rates are fair and reasonable; or how the funding was allocated to grantee.

Costs are based on staff time for a documented registration program, coordination of meeting space, associated activities as well as teaching the Produce Safety Alliance's approved curriculum. Costs are also based on contractor time to perform On-Farm Readiness reviews, answer questions, and provide guidance after the reviews to ensure compliance as well as travel time and expenses. The costs are well within industry norms and therefore are fair and reasonable.

4. Describe the plan for future competition for the goods or services.

DACF will continue to look for service providers that can provide the same services at an affordable price.
